

Alfred Station Fire Company Dedicates 2007 Fire Prevention Book to Two Dedicated Firefighters

April 7, 2007

Several company members worked behind the scenes to dedicate the company's 2007 Fire Prevention Book to two active firefighters and brothers Mr. Charles Burdick and Mr. Douglas Burdick who have served our company for a combined total of 110 years since the company was formed in 1912.

Photo (left to right): Mr. Douglas Burdick, Chief Jeffrey Ormsby, Mr. Charles Burdick and Fire Police Captain David Williams

The two were presented with framed copies of the Dedication (see below) at the Fire Company's Annual Dinner.

DEDICATION

It is with great honor and pride that the Alfred Station Volunteer Fire Company dedicates this 2007 Fire Prevention Book to two active company members who have served our company for a combined total of 110 years since the company was formed in 1912. The two members are brothers and both are lifelong residents of our community.

Charlie (left) and Doug (center) receive a humorous award from fellow firefighter Joe Menichino (right) at the Company's 2006 Annual Dinner

Charles Burdick (left) joined the fire company in 1947 making 2007 his 60th Anniversary of service and Douglas Burdick (center) joined the fire company in 1957 making 2007 his 50th Anniversary of service. Combined, the two have volunteered 110 years of dedicated service to the Alfred Station Fire Company and the communities the fire company serves.

Charlie and Doug's years of faithful service to the company and selfless devotion to our community is inspiring. Each of these two members is in attendance at the majority of our emergency calls, training and events for the company. We are stronger as a company for their efforts and honored by their exemplary service.

Our sincere thanks to Charles and Douglas Burdick!